HIGH PRICES FOR APPLES.

When consumers of eating apples are compelled to pay the comparatively moderate price of $5 a barrel for apples in good condition they complain bitterly; but, according to a letter received the other day by Isaac Tuck, Editor of "The New-York Fruit Trade Journal," from a reputable firm in Mon-

Fruit Trade Journal, 'from a reputable firm in Mon-treal, Canada, two barrels of apples were recently sold there for the almost fabulous price of $25 a bar-rel. The letter said:
"These apples were grown by Dr. Young, of Adolphustown, Ont. They were of the variety called 'Longovity,' and were the first of this kind ever sold in America. The purchaser was a prom-linent retail grocer in our city, and the apples were pronounced by leading Canadian packers to be the finest ever sold in this market."
